

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Last revised by the Board on 19 February 2019

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Good corporate governance is about balancing entrepreneurship with sound control and risk management. This means organising our businesses and activities for growth and long-term sustainable success, while effectively managing the risks that come with that growth.

Good governance is about transparency and leadership but also about the contribution of every employee at all levels of the company. We believe that a strong culture of corporate governance and ethical behaviour is fundamental to the way we do business.

This Corporate Governance Charter describes governance at Ageas. We are confident that creating a clearly defined framework for corporate governance will help us to communicate better with all our stakeholders.

INTRODUCTION

Ageas is an international insurance group with a balanced portfolio of companies in mature as well as in growing markets. Its parent company is ageas SA/NV (hereafter referred to as ageas SA/NV or “The Company”), a public limited liability company (société anonyme / naamloze vennootschap) set up under Belgian law and listed on Euronext Brussels. ageas SA/NV is subject to the Belgian Code of Companies. As well as complying with any legislation and regulation applicable to it, the board of directors of ageas SA/NV is committed to high standards of corporate governance. In particular, aside from any possible derogation as permitted and duly justified, ageas SA/NV applies the 2009 Belgian Code on Corporate Governance (hereafter referred to as the “2009 Code”)¹.

With respect to the above, the Board has produced the present Corporate Governance Charter (hereafter referred to as “the Charter”) as a comprehensive and basic reference on Ageas’s governance². This Charter also includes appendices relating to key Ageas policies³.

The Charter covers the following topics:

- Part I : Vision and Mission Statement
- Part II : Structure and Organisation
- Part III : Shares and Shareholders
- Part IV : Board
- Part V : Board Advisory Committees
- Part VI : Executive Management
- Part VII : External Supervision

Good corporate governance means that a company maintains the flexibility to adapt its structure to altered circumstances, new legislation and other significant events. The Board will therefore regularly, and in any event whenever circumstances so require, review this Charter and make any such changes as it deems appropriate. Important amendments will be explained by the Board at the General Meeting of Shareholders (hereafter referred to as the “General Meeting”) following adoption by the Board of the revised version of the Charter. The Charter is published, together with the Articles of Association, on the Ageas website (www.ageas.com).

- 1 Any parts of this code which would not be applicable will, as the case may be, be indicated in the Annual Report together with the reason(s) justifying any possible derogation, in accordance with Article 96 §2, 2° of the Belgian Code of Companies.
 - 2 For the avoidance of doubt, this Corporate Governance Charter constitutes a “Corporate Governance Charter” as referred to in provision 1.1 and appendix F 9.1/1 of the 2009 Code. The factual disclosures on Ageas’s governance in the Annual Report constitute the “Corporate Governance Statement” as referred to in provision 9.3/1 of the 2009 Code.
 - 3 Unless otherwise specified, any reference to Ageas includes ageas SA/NV as the parent company of Ageas and all its direct and indirect subsidiaries (hereafter referred to as “the Subsidiaries”). In joint ventures where Ageas does not control the affiliate, the policy of the majority shareholder is applicable, provided that, ideally, it complies with the standards laid down in this Charter.

VISION AND MISSION STATEMENT

■ PART I ■

VISION AND MISSION STATEMENT

I.1. WHO WE ARE AND WHAT WE DO⁴

Ageas is an international insurance group with a balanced portfolio of companies in mature as well as in growing markets. As an international provider of insurance providing solutions to private, business and institutional customers, Ageas delivers a total package of both life and non-life insurance products and services through a variety of distribution channels.

Ageas's activities are geographically focused on Europe and Asia, which represent a large portion of the world insurance market and where Ageas enjoys strong market positions.

Ageas capitalises on its strong market position in the stable and cash-generative core markets. In parallel, it uses its recognised expertise, flexibility and partnership skills to grow further in a focused number of markets in Europe and Asia, primarily through partnerships with leading distributors. Ageas thereby aims to maintain an appropriate balance between profitability in mature markets and value creation in growth markets. Ageas strongly believes that these characteristics and sound management provide the necessary basis for sustainable development as a quality service and multichannel insurance provider.

ageas SA/NV shares are listed on Euronext Brussels and ageas SA/NV has a sponsored ADR Program in the United States.

I.2. VISION AND MISSION

In a more complex yet more convergent world, innovation, speed and agility will be as crucial as scale, track record and reach. Ageas will stand out as a professional international insurance services provider, recognised for its ability to deliver superior and sustainable stakeholder value by constantly anticipating and exceeding the needs of customers, investors, employees, partners and communities wherever we do business.

I.3. OBJECTIVES AND STAKEHOLDERS

As a listed company our primary objective is to create sustainable economic value for our shareholders. We can achieve this only if we serve the interests of all our stakeholders. The most important thing is that we meet – or rather exceed – the expectations of our customers. In so doing we will benefit all those who profit from the success of our company, including our employees, intermediaries, suppliers and the communities that we are a part of.

We have to live up to our promises at all times, being solid, trustworthy partners who offer flexible solutions to our customers. People judge us by what we do, rather than by what we claim to be. The highest degree of integrity is therefore expected from us all.

4 Descriptive parts of this current chapter reflect Ageas's factual situation at the time of the adoption by the Board of the current version of this Charter, without prejudice to any possible change of such situation and without any amendment of the Charter being a prerequisite for any such change.

THE BOARD – TERMS OF REFERENCE

IV.1.3. Authority

Individual Board Members have access to independent professional advice at the Company's expense where they deem it necessary to discharge their responsibilities as Board Members, and after consultation with the Chairman.

The Company is duly represented by (a) the Chairman and the CEO acting together, or (b) a Non-Executive and an Executive Board Member acting together or (c) the CEO for all matters relating to day-to-day management and, in addition, for specific matters as determined by, and within the limits set, by the Board. Except otherwise provided by the Board, the CEO has the right to sub-delegate these specific powers.

Remuneration paid by Ageas to its Board Members is disclosed for each Board Member individually in the Annual Report, including the remuneration received from any subsidiary. For Executive Board Members, Board membership as such is not remunerated. Executive Board Members receive remuneration linked to the executive functions they perform within Ageas, determined in accordance with the Remuneration Policy in Appendix 4.

IV.3. BOARD LEADERSHIP

Presentations to the Board are generally made by members of the Executive Committee. The Board operates on a collegiate basis and its decisions are normally taken by consensus of its members. A decision taken by consensus is regarded as a unanimous decision. In the absence of any such consensus, a decision is adopted as laid down in the AoA.

IV.4.3. Company Secretary

The Board appoints a Company Secretary (hereafter referred to as “The Company Secretary”), who assists and advises the Board, the Chairman, the Chairs of the Board Committees (hereafter “The Chair(s)”) and all Board Members in the performance of their general and specific roles and duties.

IV.5.2. Service Arrangements

Non-Executive Board Members are not permitted, either directly or indirectly, to enter into agreements with Ageas for the provision of paid services (e.g. accounting, consulting, legal services), unless explicitly authorised by the Board. Non-Executive Board Members are requested to consult with the Chairman, who will then decide whether or not to submit a request for exemption to the Board. The Chairman of the Board is informed in advance of any services that must be disclosed under prevailing legislation and/or regulations.

IV.5.4. Interaction with the Executive Management

Any Non-Executive Board Member may contact any Executive Manager other than Executive Board Members, provided that he/she can demonstrate that such contact is justified by operational requirements related to the exercise of his/her mandate in the best interests of ageas SA/NV and/or Ageas. Prior to any such contacts Non-Executive Board Members consult the CEO, who immediately informs the Chairman of the request. Moreover Non-Executive Board Members are requested to use their judgment to ensure that these contacts do not distract the Executive managers from business operations and managerial responsibilities. PART V

THE COMPANY'S BOARD ADVISORY COMMITTEES –
STANDING RULES AND TERMS OF REFERENCE

V.1. STANDING RULES APPLICABLE TO ALL BOARD ADVISORY COMMITTEES

V.1.1. Roles, Responsibilities and Authority

As a general principle, the Board Advisory Committees (also referred to in this Part V as “Board Committees” or “Committees”) have an advisory role for the Board. They assist the Board in specific areas, which they cover in appropriate detail and on which they make recommendations to the Board. Only the Board has the power to take decisions within the scope of its competences and responsibilities. The role and responsibilities of each Board Committee are determined by the Board and laid down in the relevant Terms of Reference in this Charter. The Terms of Reference are reviewed each year by the Committees themselves or at the initiative of the Board and changes are recommended to the Board as required. Each Committee has the authority and the duty to use adequate, necessary and proportionate means (including the authority to select, retain and terminate the mandate of any outside adviser) in order to fulfil its duties, and is accountable to the Board for the proper exercise of these powers and duties. After each meeting, the Committees report to the Board on their activities, conclusions and recommendations.

V.1.2. Composition

In principle each Committee is composed of Non-Executive Board Members (hereafter referred to as “the Committee Members”), has a minimum of three and a maximum of five Committee Members and, unless otherwise required by applicable law, the majority of the Committee Members satisfy the independence criteria as contained in Appendix 3. The Chairs and other Committee Members are designated by the Board. As a rule the composition of all Board Committees is reviewed every year. The composition may also be reviewed when a Committee Member completes his/her tenure as a Board Member, even if his/her re-election is envisaged.

The designation of Committee Members is based on:

- their specific competences and experience, in addition to the general competence requirements for Board Members; and
- the requirement that each Committee, as a group, possesses the competences and experience needed to perform its tasks.

The Chairman is not a member of the Board Committees, with the exception of the Corporate Governance Committee, which he/she chairs and for which he/she is designated as Chair. The Chairman has a standing invitation to attend the meetings of the other Committees. It is standard practice, but not an obligation, that the Chairs invite members of the Executive Committee to attend Committee meetings. As invitees, the Executive Committee Members do not participate in the voting. They present the topics, answer the questions raised by the Committee Members and make any comments they deem appropriate.

Each Committee assesses its performance at least once a year, and reports on this to the Board. On this occasion it also reviews the required competences, as well as any possible shortcomings and actions to be taken. Furthermore it assesses the need to formally define a specific set of competence requirements applicable to its members and makes recommendations to the Board accordingly.

■ PART V ■

THE COMPANY'S BOARD COMMITTEES - STANDING RULES AND TERMS OF REFERENCE

V.1.3. Chairmanship

It is the responsibility of the person chairing a Board Committee, supported by the Chairman and where appropriate the CEO, to ensure that the Committee:

- understands its role and responsibilities;
- has all the information and internal or external support it requires to fulfil its tasks properly; and

V.2.2. Responsibilities

The RC makes recommendations to the Board on:

- the policies that govern the remuneration of Executive and Non-Executive Board Members, the other Executive managers and the transversal control functions. - the policies and criteria (independence requirements, competences and qualifications) that govern the selection and nomination of Board Members, including changes where needed; in this respect it contributes actively to the taking of responsibility by the Board for appropriate recruitment, assessment and training policy designed, inter alia, to support these assessments and thus draw up appropriate internal rules for the assessment of suitability;
- the appointment, re-election or removal of Board Members and the appointment, renewal or removal of Executive Managers and transversal control functions, particularly, furthermore, on:

EXTERNAL SUPERVISION

■ PART VII ■

EXTERNAL SUPERVISION

VII.1. REGULATORY SUPERVISION

The regulatory framework within which Ageas operates is based on Ageas's status as an insurance group and on the status of ageas SA/NV as a listed company.

VII.1.1. Prudential Supervision of Ageas

As providers of insurance services, all insurance companies within Ageas are subject to prudential supervision by the national supervisory bodies for insurance in their domicile country.

In addition to the above, Ageas is also subject to supplementary supervision, as prescribed in the EU directive on the supervision of insurance holding companies. Supplementary supervision covers such areas as the shareholding structure of the Company, the reliability of directors and management, the organisational structure of Ageas, its investment policy, risk concentration and intra-group activities.

Supplementary supervision is exercised by the competent authorities of the member state in which the insurance undertaking has received official authorisation. Where insurance undertakings authorised in two or more member states have as their parent undertaking the same insurance holding company, the competent authorities of the member states concerned may reach agreement as to which of them will be responsible for exercising supplementary supervision.

In practice Ageas is subject to the prudential supervision of the Belgian National Bank.

VII.1.2. Supervision of ageas SA/NV as an Issuer of Listed Securities

As an issuer of listed securities, the Company is subject to the listing requirements of NYSE Euronext and to supervision by the Financial Services and Markets Authority (FSMA).

VII.1.3. Market Conduct Supervision

In each of its customer markets Ageas is also subject to supervision regarding the quality of its products and services and their compliance with codes of conduct and professionalism. In Belgium, for example, this market conduct supervision is carried out by the FSMA. In other countries a similar role is assumed by local authorities.

VII.2. EXTERNAL AUDITORS

VII.2.1. External Audit Appointment

KPMG Réviseurs d'Entreprises/Bedrijfsrevisoren are the auditors of ageas SA/NV. The General Meeting appoints or re-appoints the auditors every three years. The auditors are responsible for auditing the financial statements of ageas SA/NV. They carry out reviews of the quarterly and half-year interim financial statements, and of the annual financial statements. At all of its operating companies worldwide, Ageas's policy is to have KPMG act as external auditor.

In addition to their normal duties the external auditors of insurance entities often have a complementary role within the framework of prudential supervision. Under the Belgian regulatory system, for example, the external auditors of AG Insurance SA/NV are licensed by the NBB. They report to the NBB on a regular basis, and may carry out special duties on its behalf.

VII.2.2. Reporting by the External Auditors

The external auditors report directly to the AC. In principle they attend each meeting of the AC in full. Additionally the external auditors may also have direct contact with the Chairman or the AC Chair, outside of the formal meetings of the Board or AC. Every quarter the external auditors produce as part of their quarterly review a report that contains a selection of comments that they wish to bring to the attention of the AC. This report may deal with any range of subjects, such as, for example, the application of accounting principles, control weaknesses within Ageas entities, legislative changes likely to affect Ageas, etc. The report is discussed in the AC and forwarded to the Board for information and comments.

VII.2.3. Supervision of the External Auditors

The AC, on behalf of the Board, supervises the performance and independence of the external auditor. The external auditor's performance is reviewed at least once every three years.

As regards independence external auditors are required to comply with local legislation and regulations, as well as with International Standards on Auditing. In addition, they comply with the 'Policy on the Independence of the External Audit Firm', which includes provision for a seven-year rotation of the Audit Partner, a strict procedure for the approval of non-audit services delivered by external auditors, and annual reporting on all aspects concerning independence. The AC monitors compliance with said Policy (see Appendix 7).

- to maintain in all circumstances independence of judgment, decision and action; and

REMUNERATION POLICY FOR BOARD MEMBERS AND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBERS

When developing the new remuneration policy for Board Members and Executive Committee members, the Board took into account its responsibility for the design of a tailor-made system which was appropriate to the performance of both Ageas and its executives and employees. The Board recognised that careful attention needed to be given not only to performance incentives, but also to Ageas's corporate values, strategy, quality and sustainability of the business, and risk profile.

The remuneration policy has been applied since 1 January 2010 and regularly updated since.

4.1. THE REMUNERATION OF BOARD MEMBERS

Remuneration of Board Members is determined by the Board and approved by the General Meeting. Detailed proposals for remuneration of Non-Executive Board Members are formulated by the RC, based on advice from outside experts. The levels and structure of the remuneration of Non-Executive Board Members are determined on the basis of their general and specific responsibilities and general market practice. The remuneration of Non-Executive Board Members includes both regular basic remuneration for Board membership and Board Committee meeting attendance fees. The Non-Executive Board Members do not receive annual incentive awards or stock options and are not entitled to pension rights. Non-Executive Board Members can also receive remuneration from the subsidiaries at which they hold board positions and such remuneration will be disclosed in the Annual Report. Non-Executive Board Members are not entitled to any termination indemnity. The remuneration of Executive Board Members is related exclusively to their executive positions.

ageas.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

4.2. REMUNERATION POLICY FOR EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE MEMBERS

Remuneration of Executive Committee members is determined by the Board, on the recommendation of the Remuneration Committee (RC), and included in the remuneration report that is submitted to the General Meeting of Shareholders for approval. Both the levels and structure of remuneration of Executive Committee members are analysed on an annual basis. At the initiative of the RC, the competitive positioning of Ageas's remuneration is regularly reviewed by, and discussed with, a leading international firm of compensation and benefits consultants which does not provide compensation and benefit services to the Executive managers or to any other manager of the Ageas organisation.

Remuneration of Executive Committee members is designed to:

- ensure the organisation's continued ability to attract, motivate and retain executive talent in an international marketplace;
- promote the achievement of demanding performance targets and long-term sustainable growth in order to align the interests of executives and shareholders in the short, medium and long term; and
- encourage, recognise and reward both strong individual contributions and solid team performance.

The reward package for Executive Committee members reflects a concept of integrated total compensation, combining the following major components of pay: base pay, annual incentive (short-term performance-related bonus), long-term incentive, pension and fringe benefits

In calibrating the various remuneration components, the objective is to position the overall remuneration levels in line with the relevant market compensation practices. The relevant reference market taken into account are the BEL20 reference market (excluding AB Inbev) and the European Insurance reference market based on a peer group of companies.

The variable components are subject to a maximum. Part of the total compensation package of Executive Committee members consists of variable remuneration and is therefore "pay at risk". At target levels this part of the compensation represents 50% of the basic base pay for the short-term performance related incentive and 45% for the long-term incentive. The maximum levels of variable compensation are monitored by the RC and can be adjusted when required by changes in the regulatory framework.

The total reward package is part of the Executive Committee member's contract, the main elements of which also include the retirement date, termination clauses and various other clauses such as confidentiality and exclusivity.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

As from 1 January 2010 contracts provide for maximum severance pay of 12 months base salary and an annual incentive (total cash compensation) for members of the Executive Committee in the event of termination without cause. In specific circumstances such as seniority in excess of 20 years, circumstances related to health and other cases to be determined by the RC, higher severance pay (up to a maximum of 18 months of base salary and an annual incentive) is allowed upon the recommendation of the RC. Financially compensated non-compete provisions may be made.

Base compensation

Base pay levels are determined per executive position for top management and are intended to compensate the Executive Committee members for their position's responsibilities and their particular set of competencies. These levels take into consideration generally prevailing market rates for equivalent positions and are subject to annual review. There is, however, no mechanism for automatic adjustment.

Annual incentive (short-term incentive)

The annual incentive is designed to encourage, recognise and reward strong individual contributions by Executive Committee members as well as solid performance as head or member of the Executive Committee.

The annual incentive is determined by the Executive Committee member's actual performance on the basis of pre-agreed performance criteria (key performance indicators (KPIs)).

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

“On target” performance results in the award of an annual incentive equal to 50% of the annual base pay of the Executive Committee member. Outperformance results in an annual incentive of up to 100% of base pay. The annual incentive can, therefore, range from 0% to 100% of base pay.

Performance measurement level of the Executive Committee Member	Relative weight of KPIs
Corporate business performance (group objectives, both quantitative and qualitative)	70%
Individual performance (personal objectives linked to responsibilities of function)	30%
Total	100%

Business performance is measured on the basis of key performance indicators determined by the Board. Performance targets at group and operating company level are set by the Board on an annual basis taking the relevant budgets into account. The KPI's that are determined by the Board incorporate criteria reflecting the growth of net profit, ROE, the cost and quantity of capital required, the risks assumed in the conduct of the business, the cost levels and the value creation.

The annual incentive is paid in cash, but payment is spread over three years. The portion of the annual incentive earned over year N to be paid out in the first year may not exceed 50% of the total awarded amount. A significant portion is deferred for one year and paid in year N+2, subject to the achievement of sustained performance over years N and N+1. A final portion is deferred for two years and paid in year N+3, again subject to the achievement of sustained performance over years N up to and including N+2. The deferred parts of the annual incentive therefore remain at risk.

Paid-out bonuses will be reclaimed in the case of fraud or material misstatement.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Long-term incentive

The long-term incentive plan is designed to:

- encourage and support the creation of shareholder value and ensure that the Executive Committee members, like the shareholders, share in the Company’s successes and setbacks;
- provide the opportunity for Executive Committee members to receive, within their overall package, competitive rewards for performance as a result of sustained group performance over a longer period of time; and
- enable the organisation to outperform a group of peers in the market, and also take into account the growth potential of ageas SA/NV shares.

For each Executive Committee member the Board decides a maximum value for the long-term incentive of up to 90% of annual base pay. The long-term incentive is paid exclusively in the form of performance shares. These shares are ordinary shares and may only be sold after 31 December of the fifth year following the end of the year over which the performance is assessed. Any restriction on the sale of the vested shares shall, however, end six months after termination of the professional relationship between Ageas and the Executive Committee member.

The shares are qualified as “performance shares” in view of the fact that their granting is dependent on the performance of ageas SA/NV shares and their vesting depends on the business performance of ageas SA/NV over a period of three and a half years, so as to take sustainability into account. Vesting further assumes that the Executive Committee member is employed by Ageas during the entire reference period. At the time of vesting, the Executive Committee member will be allowed to sell a maximum of 50% of those shares within ten days in order to finance any tax liabilities associated with the grant.

The number of performance shares granted under the long-term incentive plan is determined annually on the basis of the following key features:

- initial grant: The grant is determined on the result of the Ageas business score over the previous working year and according following grid:

Ageas Business score	% Grant	Exco (45% target)
< 3	No granting	-
3	50 % of target	22,5% of base pay
4	100 % of target	45 % of base pay
5	150% of target	67,5% of base pay
6 or 7	200 % of target	90 % of base pay

- The number of shares in the initial grant is calculated by dividing the initial grant value determined by the Board by the value of ageas SA/NV shares at the time of the grant. The maximum number of shares in the initial grant may never exceed the maximum percentage (90%) of annual base pay.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

- the long-term incentive is delivered in the form of performance shares and vesting is conditional upon the continuance of the professional relationship: the long-term incentive for year N will not vest until year N+4, subject to the attainment of a sustained performance over the four-year period and will be adjusted as explained below;
 - As for the LTI – plans launched before 2017 - the final number of shares to be vested (at June N+4) will be calculated as the number of shares initially granted, multiplied by the ratio of the TSR ranking of the period 1/1/N to 31/12/N+3 over the TSR ranking over year N (TSR or Total Shareholder Return).
 - As of the LTI- plan for 2017 , the number of granted shares at vesting will be adjusted according the TSR ranking of Ageas in a peer group of companies over the elapsed performance period with following leverage:

Percentile TSR ranking 3 years	Vesting %
≥ 75%	200%
≥60% - <75%	150%
≥40% - <60%	100%
≥25% - <40%	50%
<25%	0%

- The total shares attributed at vesting will never exceed 90 % of base compensation. (absolute cap).
- in the structure of the annual incentive and the long-term incentive, the alignment of performance, risk and remuneration is taken into account by incorporating elements of risk management and control in the structure of these incentives:
 - in the annual incentive: through the choice of the KPIs (including the risk and cost of capital adjusted features of such KPIs), the deferred component and the sustained performance requirement in the two years following the performance year;
 - in the long-term incentive: through the deferred vesting mechanism combined with sustained performance in the period prior to vesting, i.e. the vesting of performance shares at the end of the three and a half year period is not only dependent on the continuous professional relationship of the Executive Committee member but also on sustained performance during the full period prior to the actual vesting of the shares, and through the mandatory blocking of the shares for five years, which provides a clear alignment of the interests of the Executive Committee member and those of Ageas shareholders. Consequently, any excessive risk taken would ultimately be reflected in the share price.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Discretionary authority

The Board of Directors has the discretionary power to adjust variable remuneration components (annual incentive and long-term incentive) either upwards or downwards in those cases where the implementation of the Remuneration Policy would result in unintended or undesirable effects.

Pension and other remuneration components

The Executive Committee members participate in Ageas's pension schemes. These schemes are in line with prevailing market practices in Ageas's geographic environment. For the members of the Executive Committee this is a defined contribution plan. These schemes provide retirement and pre- and post- retirement survivors' pensions or their lump sum equivalent. Other benefits, such as medical and other insurance coverage, are provided in line with competitive practices in the market where the member is employed.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Adoption of Remuneration Policy

The policy described above replaces the previous one and was approved and adopted by the General Meeting of Shareholders.

With respect to managers who are not members of the Executive Committee, the Board has decided to adopt the same principles as apply to the Executive Committee members, adapted mutatis mutandis to local markets, practice and legislation. A long-term incentive can only be provided to members of the Management Committee.

The Board has the authority to amend the Remuneration Policy as it sees fit, on the basis of recommendations made by the RC and in compliance with the prerogatives of the General Meeting of Shareholders.

APPENDIX 5

PRINCIPLES OF BUSINESS CONDUCT

5.1. CONTENTS

- Introduction to the Principles
- Ageas Principles of Business Conduct:
 - relationships with our shareholders;
 - relationships with our customers;
 - internal relationships;
 - relationships with intermediaries;
 - relationships with communities;
 - final remarks.

This internal Ageas document is addressed to Ageas staff worldwide and is intended to set minimum standards for the conduct of business.

5.2. INTRODUCTION TO THE PRINCIPLES

Safeguarding Our Reputation

The Ageas Principles of Business Conduct have been developed with the aim of safeguarding our reputation as a reliable business partner that lives up to its core values. The Principles are intended to provide guidance to our actions and decisions, and they reflect the mindset and attitude expected in our company.

Global Principles Requiring Local Application

The Principles of Business Conduct apply to employees of Ageas all over the world. It is important that every Ageas employee adheres to these Principles. Their application guarantees the business excellence that Ageas wishes to achieve. The Principles are broad and of a general nature and provide the minimum standard.

Needless to say, stricter or more specific regulations and standards which apply in countries where an Ageas company is active must also be observed.

Being What We Claim To Be

We have to live up to our promise at all times: being solid, trustworthy partners who offer flexible solutions to our customers. People judge us by what we do, rather than by what we claim to be. The highest degree of integrity is therefore expected from us all.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Questions and Internal Dialogue

Everyone should be able to consult a colleague if in doubt about how to apply the Principles in a specific case. Individual Ageas companies have their own structures and procedures for dealing with questions related to the Principles that come up in day-to-day practice. The first step might be to discuss questions with direct superiors. Furthermore, Ageas companies have designated officers to promote the application of the Principles of Business Conduct, e.g. Compliance Officers, Human Resources Managers or Ombudsmen. These officers have the authority and capacity to provide support in individual cases. Anyone at an Ageas company with a question or comment related to the Principles which is not limited to a specific case and might be relevant to other situations, now or in the future, should be able to enter into an internal Ageas-wide dialogue.

5.3. PRINCIPLES OF BUSINESS CONDUCT

5.3.1. Relationships with Our Shareholders

Added Value

We aim to provide sustainable economic value to ageas SA/NV shareholders.

Corporate Governance

We subscribe to and apply principles of good corporate governance. We strive for an effective and transparent management structure, with an adequate division between executive and non-executive responsibilities. Equal Treatment

We respect the equal treatment of our shareholders.

5.3.2. Relationships with Our Customers

Treating Customers Fairly

Ageas is committed to ensuring that its customers are treated fairly. Treating Customers Fairly (TCF) is central to the Ageas corporate culture. In this respect a policy sets out the framework in relation to Treating Customers Fairly and serves as a set of minimum standards for ensuring fair outcomes for customers.

Innovative Solutions for Our Customers

We strive for better and more distinctive solutions that meet our customers' needs and that help them maintain and enhance their financial well-being.

We value an impeccable reputation as a trustworthy insurance company. We do not therefore enter into relationships with individuals or organisations engaged in, or suspected of, illegal or unethical activities. New customers are accepted with due care. We protect our organisation from abuse by criminal organisations or individuals. We adhere to the legislation and regulations on money laundering, both in letter and in spirit. Furthermore we pursue an active anti-fraud and anti-money laundering policy.

5.3.3. Internal Relationships

Respect, Openness and Cooperation

Ageas's core values are equally applicable to the relationship between our company and its employees and to the relationships between colleagues. Respect, openness and cooperation should be characteristics of these relationships. One of the main characteristics of our relationship as colleagues is that we share our knowledge and exchange best practices.

Motivating Working Conditions

Ageas aims to be a dependable and inspiring employer to those who make a real effort to contribute to our values, goals and achievements. The Ageas culture and structure aim to foster our employees' commitment to the company. We provide working conditions that motivate Ageas employees to be high performers.

This not only implies adequate remuneration, but also good opportunities for personal development, including training facilities, and attention to the creation of a good work-life balance. We always provide a safe and healthy working environment. Ageas encourages all employees to exercise their rights concerning employee participation. The statutory representations of employees (such as works councils and unions) play an important role in the open and straightforward dialogue that Ageas wishes to maintain.

Human Dignity

Each and every person in our organisation should be treated with dignity and respect. We do not tolerate discrimination based on personal characteristics such as gender, race, colour, religion, political opinion, sexual orientation or physical abilities, nor do we tolerate harassment.

Ageas companies treat personal information related to individual employees with a high degree of confidentiality. This information will not be provided to third parties, except for purposes that have been clearly stated or unless legislation or equivalent regulations require us to do so. We observe the legislation and regulations on the protection of privacy, both in letter and in spirit.

Confidential information, whether it relates to an Ageas company or to a third party, will only be used for the purpose it has been provided for, by authorised staff. We will not use such information for personal benefit, and even the appearance of misuse should be avoided at all times. This information will only be passed on to others if required for the proper execution of our tasks. The previous paragraph also means that insider trading is not accepted. In other words, we do not engage in private investment transactions if we are in possession of non-public, price-sensitive information related to an investment, nor do we advise others on such transactions.

Separation of Business and Private Interests

Business interests should be strictly separated from private interests. Conflicts of private and business interests or the appearance of such conflicts are to be avoided. Conflicts of interest can arise in many different ways. An example is if an Ageas employee is involved on behalf of an Ageas company in negotiations concerning a contractual relationship with a company in which that employee has a personal interest exceeding an ordinary investment. A conflict of interest may also arise if an employee accepts some personal benefit that may adversely affect his/her judgment on behalf of the company, or that may cause him to act differently than he/she would without the receipt of such a benefit, or that might otherwise damage Ageas's reputation. Benefits may include payments, gifts, entertainment, services, loans or the promise of future benefits. Acceptance of the conventional courtesies of business life, such as gifts of insignificant value or customary social entertainment, is allowed as long as it does not potentially affect the employee's judgment or cause him to act differently, as described above. Company property and company relationships are used for business purposes only, and never for personal benefit. Unpublicised information on the company to which employees have access belongs to the company. We fully respect the rights of third parties, for example software copyrights.

Additional Activities

Paid or unpaid professional responsibilities, other than those that come under the employment contract with Ageas, will only be assumed on the basis of an additional agreement with the employer.

5.3.4. Relationships with Intermediaries

Co-Responsibility

Our relationships with intermediaries – brokers and, in a broader sense, individuals and organisations using our brand and/or selling our products and services but who are not employed by Ageas – are governed by the same principles as our other relationships. Intermediaries may expect fair remuneration and professional support from us. We, in turn, require from them that they act in line with our standards of business conduct and accept co-responsibility for building and maintaining our reputation.

Selection

With this co-responsibility in mind, we select our intermediaries with due care. If intermediaries do not observe the Ageas business principles we will no longer work with them.

5.3.5. Relationships with Our Communities

Our Communities

Ageas is a part of the communities in which it is active. We are able to operate by virtue of the economic, legal and social infrastructures of our societies. We benefit from these infrastructures while at the same time contributing to their existence. We have earned the right to provide insurance services. At the same time, we recognise that participation in our communities brings responsibilities as well. We participate in our communities while taking into account their sustainable development. Our employees are encouraged to participate in their local communities, for example as volunteers.

Respect for Human Rights

We are of the opinion that respect for human rights, as described in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights of the United Nations of 1948, is a condition for maintaining a sustainable society. We apply the relevant human rights principles in our relationships with employees and we acknowledge our responsibility for promoting the application of human rights whenever we, as a private enterprise, are in a position to make a meaningful contribution to this cause.

Governments and Regulators

Our relationships with representatives of the governments in the countries where we operate, such as external regulators, are based on respect, professionalism and trust. Bribery in any form is not tolerated.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Fair Competition

We strive to be our customers' preferred insurance services supplier. Providing the right products and services, and acting in line with our values, will give us a favourable and reputable position in our highly competitive marketplace. We do not engage in unfair practices as regards our customers, competitors or markets.

Concern for the Environment

We recognise the need to protect the environment. We carefully manage our use of natural resources such as energy and water, and we practice environmentally conscious waste management.

Final Remarks

Ageas's reputation as a trustworthy partner is an asset of great importance, one which should be maintained and enhanced by proper business conduct. We expect all of our employees, from the highest to the lowest level, to adhere to and properly observe these Principles of Business Conduct, in letter and in spirit. Moreover, we expect exemplary behaviour from managers, and that they actively motivate their subordinates to observe the Principles at all times. Ageas companies will react effectively should cases of negligence or violation of these Principles nevertheless occur.

APPENDIX 6

POLICY ON PRIVATE INVESTMENTS

This document describes the Ageas policy on private investments⁶ made by its Board Members, Executive Committee Members, and officers and employees, as approved by the Board.

The current policy document aims to apply a set of minimum standards which apply throughout all Ageas offices and subsidiaries worldwide, insofar as local legislation permits. These standards are translated into detailed rules and procedures applying either to (a) specific officers or groups of officers or employees, or (b) specific legal entities. Ageas is committed to introducing appropriate procedures and other measures to monitor compliance with said policies, rules and procedures.

Principle 1

Every Board member, officer or employee may make a private investment in any security, provided that such investment:

- is in no way linked, nor potentially perceived to be linked, to inside information available from any source whatsoever. It should be noted that this principle applies to securities issued by ageas SA/NV as well as to securities issued by other institutions;
- is in no way linked, nor potentially perceived to be linked, to securities transactions that an Ageas company performs or commissions. Accordingly, it is not permitted to engage in any private transaction in response to, or in advance of, a securities order by ageas SA/NV of which any Board member, officer or employee is aware;
- does not constitute, nor could appear to constitute, a conflict of business and private interests;
- could not be perceived as an excessive or highly speculative transaction, nor considered to be market manipulation;
- has not been designated by the Board or the Compliance Officer as a security in which private investments are not allowed.

6 To acquire or dispose of, or the attempt to acquire or dispose of, financial instruments to which that information relates, for one's own account or for the account of a third party, either directly or indirectly.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Principle 2

All Board members, officers and employees shall refrain from:

- disclosing inside information – from any business source whatsoever and whether it relates to an Ageas company or to a third party – to others; and/or
- recommending others to engage in a private investment transaction, based on such information; unless such disclosure or recommendation is necessary for the proper execution of their professional duties.

The same prohibitions apply if the appearance is reasonably likely to be created that inside information is available.

Principle 3

Subject to the guidelines, contained in Principle 1, on possible additional restrictions/obligations imposed by the Compliance Officer and on the ‘closed periods’ and ‘prohibited periods’ during which private transactions in ageas SA/NV securities, including the securities issued by fully-owned subsidiaries, are not permitted, every Board member, officer or employee may make private investments in ageas SA/NV securities. Their ownership of ageas SA/NV securities should constitute a long-term investment.

Principle 4

Ageas will implement and maintain processes and procedures in order to fulfil the notification requirements, if any, for private securities transactions which are imposed by law (or are required by prevailing regulations or best practices) in every country where Ageas is present. Ageas has a compliance function that promotes and monitors the application of the principles described above.

APPENDIX 7

POLICY ON THE INDEPENDENCE OF THE EXTERNAL AUDIT FIRM

This document describes Ageas's policy regarding the independence of its external audit firm, recommended by the Audit Committee and approved by the Board. Every year the Audit Committee formally evaluates the independence of the external audit firm, documents its position on this matter, and reports to the Board. When reporting to the Board, the Audit Committee also recommends changes to the policy where necessary.

It should be noted that Ageas requires its external audit firm to comply with International Standards on Auditing (ISA), including the standards on independence contained therein. Additionally Ageas's external audit firm is subject to local statutory independence requirements. The current policy document should be regarded as the minimum standards for independence to which Ageas commits itself on a voluntary basis, and which may be more stringent than local independence legislation.

7.1. GENERAL POLICY

Ageas - the Company and all of its majority-owned legal entities - maintains a strict policy of avoiding, both in fact and in appearance, any conflict of interest when using the services of an external audit firm.

This policy is guided by the following principles:

- the external audit firm is not involved in the decision-making process at Ageas;
- the external audit firm assures that no direct or indirect financial, business, employment or other relationship exists which would cause an objective, reasonable and informed third party to conclude that the external audit firm's independence has been compromised.

In line with the European Commission Recommendation⁷ implemented in Belgium, Ageas and Ageas Board Members and officers shall refrain from entering into any financial or business relationship with Ageas's external audit firm, its partners or employees which could, or could be seen to:

- create a conflict of interest;
- place the external auditor in a position to audit its own work;
- result in the external auditor acting as an Ageas manager or Ageas employee;
- place the external auditor in the role of advocate for Ageas.

Ageas also recognises that its relationship with its external audit firm must be managed in a consistent and transparent manner, and is committed to defining clear roles, responsibilities and processes in order to achieve this.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

7.2. SERVICES PROVIDED

In accordance with the policy referred to above, Ageas's external audit firm is permitted to provide the following services:

7.2.1. Audit Services

Audit services are services that provide assurance on the fair presentation of financial statements and encompass the following specific services:

- issuing an audit opinion on Ageas's consolidated financial statements;
- issuing an audit opinion on the statutory financial statements of the Company and its subsidiaries, where legally required;
- issuing a review opinion on interim financial statements;
- in general: issuing any opinion assigned to the statutory auditor by local legislation or regulations.

7.2.2. Audit-Related Services

Audit-related services are assurance services or other work that is reasonably related to performing the audit and review of Ageas's financial statements. Audit-related services result in a certification, a specific opinion, a report or an investigation and can be characterised as non-recurring.

These services include the following:

- accounting consultations related to accounting, financial reporting or disclosure matters not classified as 'audit services';
- assistance with understanding and implementing any new accounting and financial reporting guidance from rule-making authorities;
- financial audits of employee benefit plans;
- established or expanded audit procedures related to accounting and/or billing records required to respond to or comply with financial, accounting or regulatory reporting matters;
- consultations regarding internal control reporting requirements;
- opinions/audit reports on information provided by Ageas at the request of a third party (prospectus, comfort letters).

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

7.2.3. Non-Audit Services

The external audit firm is permitted to provide Ageas with any non-audit service that is not otherwise prohibited (as outlined below). Permitted non-audit services include:

Tax Services

Tax services such as tax compliance, tax planning and tax advisory services, including advice on transfer pricing. Tax compliance generally involves preparation of original and amended tax returns, claims for refund and tax payment planning services. Tax planning and advice encompasses a diverse range of services, including assistance with tax audits and appeals, tax advice related to mergers and acquisitions, employee benefit plans and requests for rulings or technical advice from the tax authorities. In no event shall the auditors negotiate with the tax authorities on behalf of Ageas.

Due diligence services pertaining to potential business acquisitions

Consulting Services

Under the Ageas Policy on the Independence of the External Audit Firm, the external audit firm may not provide services which could violate the basic principles of independence referred to above. This implies that the following categories of services are prohibited:

1. Bookkeeping or other services related to Ageas's accounting records or financial statements
2. Appraisal or valuation services or fairness opinions
3. Financial information systems design and implementation
4. Actuarial services
5. Internal audit outsourcing services
6. Management duties, executive recruiting and human resources services
7. Broker-dealer services, investment advisory or investment banking services
8. Legal and expert services
9. Forensic audit
10. Model validation
11. Commission and contingent fee arrangements
12. Tax services to any person who serves in a 'financial reporting oversight role' for the client or one of its major subsidiaries, with the exception of personal tax services at the request of Ageas
13. Tax services with the sole purpose of changing the taxable result or avoiding taxation, or tax treatment not endorsed by the tax authorities and related regulation
14. Any other service that by (local) regulation is illegal.

In case of doubt, the final decision is taken by the General Auditor and communicated, together with the grounds on which it was taken, to the Audit Committee.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

7.3. PRE-APPROVAL PROCEDURES

The Audit Committee delegates to the General Auditor the authority to pre-approve all non-audit services to be delivered by the ageas SA/NV statutory auditor up to an amount of EUR 250,000. For amounts in excess of EUR 250,000 the Audit Committee Chair takes the decision based on advice provided by the General Auditor, including the grounds on which the advice is based. A tendering process is required for each non-audit service (or each group of interrelated non-audit services) which is anticipated to generate fees in excess of EUR 250,000, unless the General Auditor grants an exception. The General Auditor reports all such approved non-audit services to the Audit Committee on a quarterly basis.

7.4. ROTATION OF THE AUDIT PARTNER

Ageas requires its external audit firm to adhere to a rotation policy that achieves an appropriate balance between going concern (effectiveness and efficiency, e.g. audit costs), risk management, independence and credibility. This entails a rotation of the Audit Partner after a maximum period of seven years. For the purpose of this policy the Audit Partner is defined as the partner who takes responsibility for signing off the auditor's opinion on the consolidated financial statements. Other key audit partners at Company level or at the level of major subsidiaries also rotate after seven years.

7.5. APPOINTMENT OF THE EXTERNAL AUDIT FIRM

The external audit firm is appointed for a period of three years. On such occasions the Audit Committee assesses the performance of the external audit firm and advises the Board on the outcome of the assessment. To obtain an objective measure against stated criteria, the external audit process is assessed on a bi-annual basis by means of a survey completed by Ageas Executive managers and Audit Committee members. Every three years the Board advises the General Meeting of Shareholders on the appointment or reappointment of the external audit firm.

7.6. RESPONSIBILITY OF THE EXTERNAL AUDIT FIRM

The external audit firm maintains a quality control system that provides reasonable assurance that its independence will not be impaired and reports annually to the Audit Committee on all aspects relevant to independence, including any possible conflicts, and how these have been dealt with. The external audit firm confirms its independence in writing annually. The external audit firm, furthermore, reports annually to the Audit Committee on its quality control systems for audit independence in general, and on the quality control measures for the independence of audits relating to Ageas in particular.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

7.7. HIRING ARRANGEMENTS

To prevent a potential conflict of interest, Ageas and its external audit firm have agreed on a restricted hiring policy:

- Ageas shall not hire partners of its external audit firm who have been involved in Ageas audits within the previous two financial years;
- the external audit firm shall not hire senior managers from Ageas to participate in Ageas audits within two years of the termination of their employment contract with Ageas;
- Ageas shall obtain prior approval from its external audit firm to hire members from its audit teams involved in the current audit of Ageas. The same applies to the external audit firm.

7.8. COMMUNICATION

Ageas will publish this Policy on the Independence of the External Audit Firm, as well as any changes thereto, on its website. Ageas will disclose in its Annual Report the audit and non-audit fees incurred for professional services provided by its external audit firm during the reporting period. In this disclosure the total fee charged by the external audit firm will be broken down into fees for audit services and for non-audit services, in accordance with the main categories.

APPENDIX 8

THE GROUP AS AN INSTITUTIONAL INVESTOR

8.1. INTRODUCTION

Investment activities at Ageas are spread across a number of entities, referred to hereafter as 'asset management units'. Investment activities take place either with respect to the assets managed on behalf of Ageas clients and insurance policyholders, or with respect to proprietary funds.

In due observance of sound governance principles, accountability for investment policies – including whether or not voting rights are exercised – lies at the level of the asset management units. The Ageas Executive Committee does not set detailed voting policies, as these could lead to conflicts of interest (or the appearance thereof) between Ageas asset management units and other Ageas entities.

8.2. POLICY ON VOTING BEHAVIOUR OF ASSET MANAGEMENT UNITS

Guidance from the Executive Committee to its asset management units therefore consists of three basic principles. Ageas asset management units should:

- act in accordance with Ageas values and with general principles of business conduct applicable at Ageas, and with all specific rules and best practices applicable to institutional investors in the country or countries in which they do business;
- communicate to the Company Secretary their voting policies;
- communicate to the Company Secretary any major issue they anticipate in the annual or extraordinary shareholders' meetings of Benelux companies where they cast their votes. Such communication shall only take place after the voting behaviour has been determined in accordance with the prevailing voting procedures within the relevant asset management unit and irrevocably passed on to the proxy voting service provider, or after votes have been otherwise irrevocably cast.

APPENDIX 9

CONFLICT OF INTEREST POLICY

This document includes excerpts of Ageas's conflict of interest policy as approved by the Board:

Scope of the Policy

This document sets out Ageas's principles for preventing, identifying and managing conflicts of interest that may arise between Ageas, its clients, suppliers and/or employees.

It serves as a guide for Ageas and its employees and provides assurance that conflict of interest situations will be properly disclosed, reviewed and addressed.

These principles have been primarily established for all persons working for ageas SA/NV, AG Insurance SA/NV and Ageas Insurance International N.V.

The policy provides global minimum standards to ensure compliance with the relevant rules.

Ageas's operating companies will introduce additional procedures, as necessary, to ensure that applicable local laws, regulations and codes of conduct are adhered to at all times.

Policy

A conflict of interest arises when the interests of Ageas or of a related person linked to Ageas directly or indirectly by employment, contract or control adversely affect a duty owed to an Ageas client, or when the interests of an employee adversely affect the duty of loyalty or objectivity he/she owes to Ageas.

Personal conflicts of interest (between the private interests of employees and Ageas's business interests) may arise in particular because of outside activities, transactions, contracts or arrangements and in general because of financial, social, political or other personal interests that interfere with the employee's professional responsibilities and time commitments, and are contrary to Ageas's own interests.

ageas.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Ageas employees are expected to perform their tasks and responsibilities with full dedication and commitment. Outside activities may not be to the detriment of their responsibilities towards Ageas. Any conflict of interest or semblance thereof should be avoided. Outside activities must not involve a risk of reputational or financial damage to Ageas and/or the employee (cf. Appendix 5: Ageas Principles of Business Conduct. Chapter 5.3.3. Internal Relationships – Separation of Business and Private Interests).

The Ageas employment conditions (Work Rules) therefore also refer to the employees' obligations in this matter.

In any event employees should refrain from assuming any additional function or office outside Ageas without prior approval.

It is also prohibited for employees to use their Ageas-related professional status or job title to obtain advantages, whatever these might be.

Procedure

- It is first and foremost the responsibility of the employee to assess, prior to accepting an outside function or office, the potential risks of damage to the interests or reputation of Ageas.
- Employees must nevertheless inform the Group Compliance Officer and their line management of their intention to take on an additional function or office outside Ageas as well as of any intention to participate financially in a trading company, and ask for their approval.

N.B. Within 30 days of commencing employment at Ageas, the employee must make an initial notification of any external activities or offices already pursued or held.

- Based on the information contained in the notification, the Compliance Officer will advise management (level Executive Management) in writing, taking into account:
 - The risk of a conflicting interest,
 - The reputational risk to Ageas.

The Compliance Officer's advice may be:

- No objection
- Subject to conditions
- Negative

- Based on the advice of the Compliance Officer, management will decide on the admissibility of, and/or any restrictions on or conditions for the acceptance of, the additional outside activity or office. This decision will be binding.
- Management will inform the employee of its decision in writing, copying in the Compliance Officer and the responsible Human Resources manager.
- The employee is requested to inform his line management and the Compliance Officer of any changes in his performance of additional activities or offices.

N.B. Political and socially-elected offices are not subject to any prior authorisation by the employer; they should nevertheless be declared.

ageas.

APPENDIX 10

ANTI-BRIBERY POLICY

This Policy applies to all subsidiaries, organisational entities and affiliates of Ageas worldwide and to their employees. Should compliance with the Ageas Anti-Bribery Policy result in non-compliance with local legislation and regulations, the latter must take precedence over the Ageas Policy. Group Compliance must be consulted immediately in such circumstances.

This Policy reflects the frame of mind in which Ageas wants to do business.

In joint ventures where Ageas does not have control, the policy of the major shareholder will apply, provided that it complies with the ideals and the standards laid down in this Policy. Should this not be the case, the Compliance Officer should be informed.

Ageas Anti-Bribery Principles

Ageas prohibits bribery in any form whatsoever, whether direct or indirect.

- “Direct” or “indirect” means that Ageas not only prohibits bribery (or attempts to bribe) within its operations through direct contact with third parties, but also does not tolerate bribery perpetrated by intermediaries.
- “In any form” means that Ageas does not tolerate either active bribery (acting corruptly by giving or attempting to give a bribe) or passive bribery (acting corruptly by seeking, agreeing to accept or accepting a bribe).
- “Prohibits” means that the zero-tolerance principle applies.

Anti-Bribery Programme

Every Ageas entity should carry out an assessment of the risks of bribery to its operations and develop training programmes tailored to the level of risk and to the knowledge and experience of the employees and business partners.

At joint ventures where Ageas does not have control, the policy of the major shareholder will apply. Ageas should, however, check if such a policy is being properly implemented.

Adequate measures and procedures designed to prevent bribery should be taken and implemented.

Ageas has an Internal Alert System, a secure and accessible channel through which employees and others should feel able to raise concerns and report violations in confidence and without risk of reprisal.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

Independent control function

Ageas conducts regular audits to ensure compliance with this Policy and/or prevailing legislation and regulations. These audits are conducted independently (either by Internal Audit, Compliance or by external auditors).

Management oversight and control

In line with these commitments, Ageas and its employees are prohibited from engaging in, or facilitating, any form of bribery in any way whatsoever.

They are also required to exercise the appropriate level of care and diligence when dealing with customers in order to identify suspicious behaviour and transactions, and to avoid any involvement in corruption and or bribery.

The Chief Executive Officer, the other Executive Managers and line management are responsible and accountable for ensuring that the employees under their supervision comply with the Ageas Anti-Bribery Policy, in accordance with the supervisory requirements at their locations.

The Board of Directors, the Chief Executive Officer and the other Executive Managers should therefore demonstrate visible and active commitment to the implementation of this Policy.

■ APPENDICES ■

TO THE CORPORATE GOVERNANCE CHARTER

APPENDIX 11

FIT AND PROPER PRINCIPLES

Sound Governance of a financial institution means that persons who have responsibility at the highest level comply with fit & proper rules. These standards of expertise and professional integrity are fully part of an effective organization and internal control system. Hence ageas SA/NV has implemented a Fit and Proper Policy which applies to all subsidiaries, organisational entities and affiliates of Ageas worldwide.

The concepts of expertise (fit) and professional integrity (proper) should be understood in their widest senses in order to consider whether a person has the qualities required for a given position. The criteria laid down in the Fit and Proper Policy introduce a framework in which the analysis of fitness (expertise) and propriety (professional integrity) can be conducted. It is important that the fit and proper character must be of ongoing attention (i.e. before appointment or taking office, but also during the exercise period of the function).

In joint ventures where Ageas does not control the affiliate, the policy of the majority shareholder is applicable, provided that, ideally, it complies with the standards laid down in this Policy. Should this not be the case, the Compliance Officer should be informed.

Ageas's Fit and Proper Policy applies to all members of the Board (executive or non-executive board members, independent or not), to the other Executive managers and to the transversal control functions.
